The Arrow project at the LBF Supply Chain Seminar 2009

Brussels, 7 May 2009. The 2009 edition of the Supply Chain Seminar hosted a presentation by Mark Bide, executive director of EDItEUR, "Why Rights Matter (and what we should do about it)" where the Arrow project has been mentioned as a key initiative to support new models for managing effectively copyright.

Every year, the Supply Chain Seminar held by BIC (Book Industry Communication) in occasion of the London Book Fair (LBF) provides international stakeholders in the content value chain with an updated view of the main changes and emerging solutions for publishing and trading content in the digital world.

All the presentations are available on BIC website: <http://www.bic.org.uk/34/News-and-Events/>

Note for editors

ARROW - Accessible Registries of Rights Information and Orphan Works towards the EDL – a consortium of European national libraries, publishers and collective management organisations, also representing writers – working through their main European associations and a number of national organisations – is a targeted project co-funded under the European Commission's eContentplus Programme (see http://ec.europa.eu/information_society/activities/econtentplus/index_en.htm) which seeks to help make digital content in Europe more accessible, usable and exploitable.
